

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of generating a set of amino acid sequences representative of at least one polypeptide of interest is provided. Also provided are kits and methods of using such peptides and antibodies generated thereagainst for detecting the presence absence or severity of a disease.